

which I can most cordially recommend to all who are interested in the people as well as in the geography of that region.

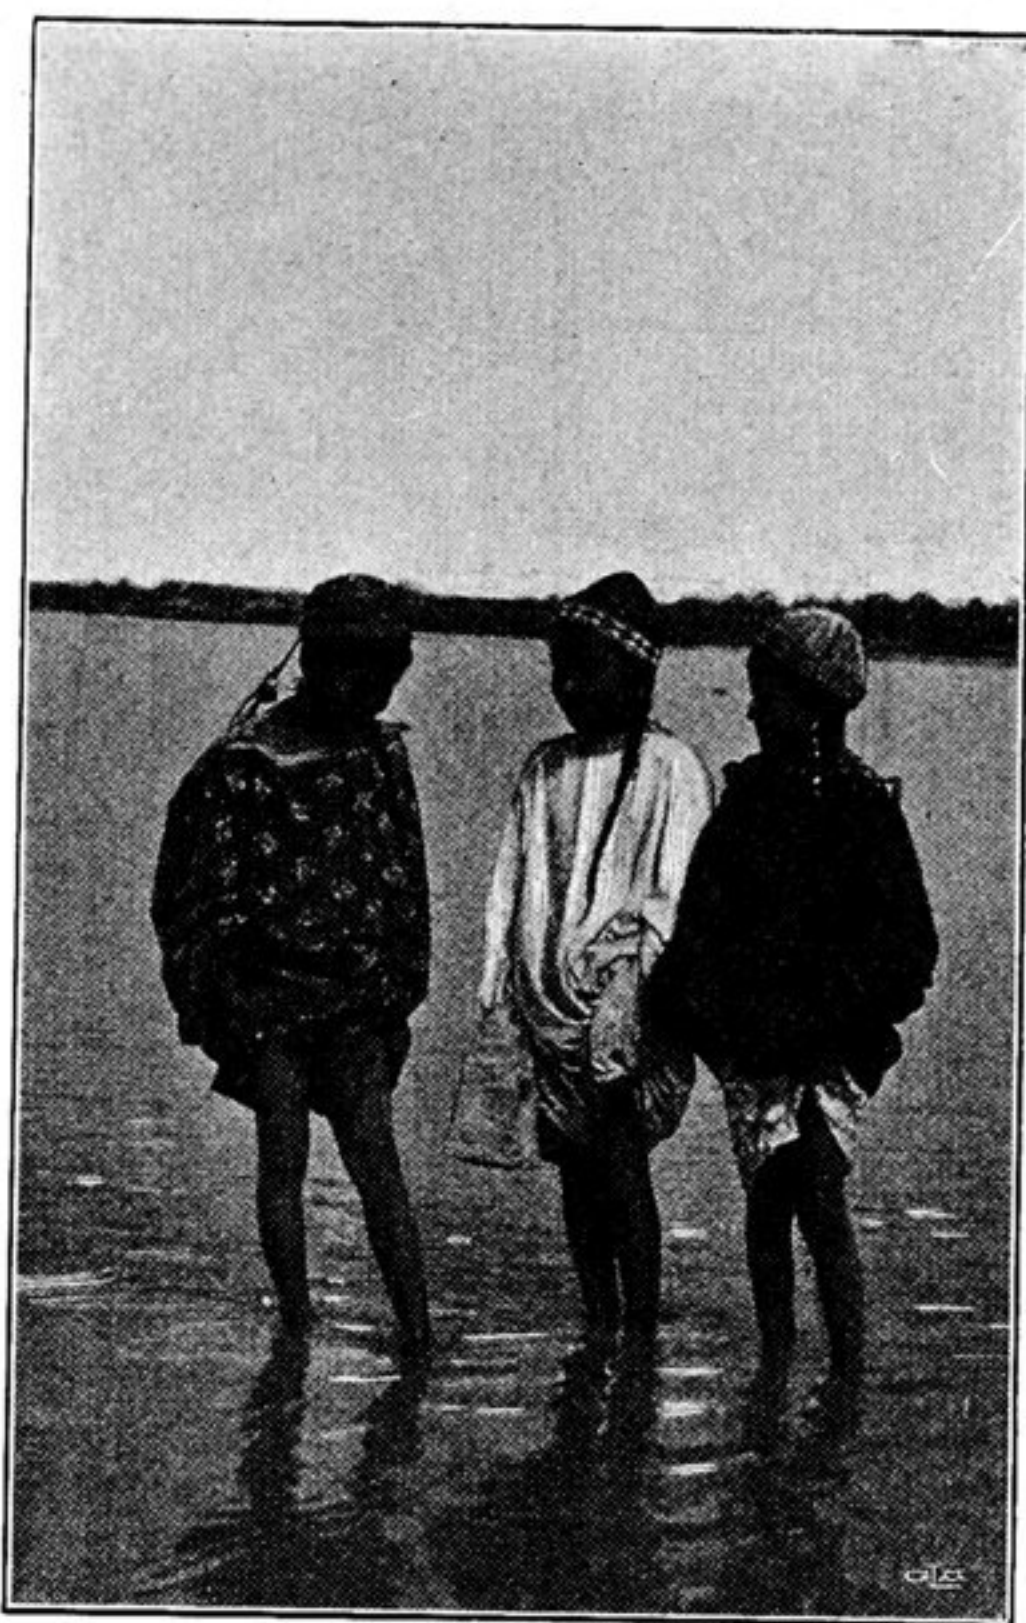

Fig. 276. THREE GIRLS.

However with the view of showing that I have not been altogether indifferent to the people, I propose at the end of the Fourth volume of this work to add a two hundred types of the inhabitants of Central Asia whom I have sketched during my various journeys.