

Plate	Facing page
26. Peking living quarters seen from the city wall. The Lung-fu-ssu market, Peking	93
27. A young male camel	100
28. A Mongolian express-cart drawn by two cows. Camels in fine winter dress	101
29. A Mongol lad, full of mirth and curiosity at the queer garb of foreigners	112
30. Camel caravan moving slowly over the Gobi. Mongols at their best	113
31. Supper on our first day on the road to Jehol. Halt for lunch on the road to Jehol	116
32. The eastern gate in the wall enclosing the Potala, Jehol	117
33. A gateway in the Potala temple grounds	120
34. Total view of the Potala across the Lion valley. In the Potala temple grounds	121
35. The heaven-storming façade of the Potala	124
36. Söderbom, Hu Ta-lama, Mr Liang and Montell in Jehol	125
37. The Golden Pavilion in the Potala	128
38. Total view of the Hsin-kung as seen from the Summer Palace. The Hsin-kung seen from the south-west	129
39. The golden roof of the Hsin-kung. The Hsin-kung	132
40. Chinese farmsteads outside Ch'eng-teh. In the background Ta-fo-ssu. The courtyard in front of the Ta-fo-ssu	133
41. View from the Ta-fo-ssu across the Je-ho valley	136
42. The P'u-lo-tien. The Ili-miao	137
43. Hsü-kung-ko, the central hall of the P'u-lo-tien	140
44. The Lo-han-t'ang, Jehol. Some of the five hundred disciples of Buddha in the Lo-han-t'ang	141
45. In the Luan-ho gorges	144
46. The Great Wall from the Luan-ho. The escort we left when passing The Great Wall	145
47. A boat on the Luan-ho	148
48. The ferry over the Luan-ho at Sha-ch'iao. Youngsters coming to inspect our boat	149
49. Lung-shan, Luan-ho. Boats on the Luan-ho stopping for the night	156
50. A flotilla with grain for the Jehol troops	157
51. A bear dance in the courtyard of the first Swedish House, Peking. Around the tea-table in the Swedish House	164
52. The Danish Telegraph Mess in Peking, the second Swedish House. The temple replica for Chicago in course of manufacture in Peking	165
53. Temple ruins from the time of Ch'ien Lung behind the present Summer Palace outside Peking. Wu-men, the main entrance to the Forbidden City, Peking	172
54. The gilded image of the Green Tara in the Ili-miao, Jehol	173
55. The replica of the Jehol Golden Pavilion being erected in Chicago	188
56. The postage stamps of the expedition and the Chinese painting that served as a model ...	189
57. Packing collections in the third Swedish House, April 1933	196
58. Gilded Buddha statue in the Nien-hua-ssu, Peking. The Buddha in Yen-shou-ssu, with which the local peasants refused to part	197
59. View from the Jade Fountain across rice-fields towards the lake at the Summer Palace outside Peking	212
60. Courtyards in the last Swedish House in Peking	213