

VII. BY CANOE TO LOP-NOR	134
Setting out from Korla	134
Konche	135
Dividing into two parties	135
Fitting out the flotilla	136
Start with the canoes	137
Our first day on the Konche-darya	138
The winding river	140
»Yellow storm»	143
Sai-cheke, the meeting-place	143
Final splitting of the expedition	144
Volume of water	145
Tributaries from the Tarim	147
Rapids	147
Temenpu, the place of bifurcation	149
Down the Qum-darya	150
Rendez-vous in the desert	153
Plan for motor exploration	154
Plan for Bergman's work	156
Continuing eastward	156
Rapids	158
In the yardang country	159
The head of the delta	160
Storm	161
A ruined house	162
In the maze of the delta	163
An ancient grave	165
A single grave	167
Remains of an old structure	169
Another single grave	169
Into blind alleys	171
In the northernmost part of the delta	171
The isolation of Lop-nor	176
Dividing the party	177
Out onto the lake	179
The second day on the shallow lake	181
The new Lop-nor	183
More graves	185
A ruined fortress	186
Towards Lou-lan	186
Chen's walk to the Lou-lan site	187
Falling water-level	190
The end of the boat journey	190
Arrival of the rescue party	191
Good-bye to Lop-nor	192
Through the Quruq-tagh by car	194
Back in base camp No. 70	196
Arrival of Hummel	197
Leaving for Korla	198
Chen's work on the Qum-darya	198
VIII. A DASH TO URUMCHI	202
Along the Quruq-tagh	202
In Korla again	203
The Qara-shahr Torgut prince	204
From Qara-shahr to Urumchi	205
Arrival in Urumchi	206