

(1)

Handwritten text on a dark, rectangular palm-leaf manuscript. The script is an ancient form of South Asian writing, likely Grantha or Tamil. The text is arranged in several horizontal lines across the leaf, which shows signs of age and wear.

(2)

Fragmented handwritten text on a light-colored, irregularly shaped piece of paper or parchment. The text is written in a dark ink and is arranged in several lines, though the fragment is torn and incomplete. The script appears to be a form of South Asian writing, possibly Grantha or Tamil, consistent with the items listed in the adjacent caption.
