

Vertical columns of ancient Chinese inscriptions, likely from the year 1285. The text is arranged in multiple columns, starting from the right side of the page. The characters are in seal script (Zhuanshu), which is a traditional form of Chinese calligraphy. The inscriptions appear to be commemorative or official in nature, mentioning various events and figures. The rightmost column contains the date '1285' (1285年). The text is densely packed and shows signs of age, with some fading and wear.
