

D

« da Livar » : Marsden maintains that Dilivar was altered from this name which he explained as « of Lahore ».

See DILIVAR, p. 626.

« Da-Otok » : for the location of Chinghiz-khan's tomb, the name is misleading.

See CINGHIS, p. 346.

Dabistān : a work of the 16th cent., which contains amplified story of the cypress. Quoted by Yule.

See DRY (LONE) TREE, p. 630.

dadian : Yule explained Polo's « David melic » by the title of « dadian » of the princes of Mingrelia. Not to be believed.

See DAVID MELIC, p. 625.

« dadian » : title of the princes of Mingrelia. (cf. Brosset, Hist. de la Géorgie, I, 385-386).

See DAVID MELIC, p. 625.

« Dagoyam » : « Dakolien » or « Dragoian », Ta-Hua-mien in the Amoy dialect isolated by Phillips.

See DAGROIAN, p. 614.

DAGROIAN.

This state ought to lie between Samudra and « Lambri ». It seems that « Tattooed Faces » must be the kingdom of Dagroian. All agree they must be Battaks.

See p. 613-615.

daher : (? = mahārāja); King of India.

See FACFUR, p. 655.

Dai-liu : Chinese name of the province of Qara-Jang by Rašidu-'d-Dīn.

May be a weakened pronunciation of **Dai-li-gu* = Ta-li-kuo.

See CARAGIAN, p. 177.

« Daire » : the usual mediaeval French form of the name of Darius.

See DARIUS, p. 615.

« Dakolien » : « Dragoian or Dagoyam », Ta-Hua-mien in the Amoy dialect isolated by Phillips.

See DAGROIAN, p. 614.

« *Dal Lake » : or Ta-êrh hai-tzū.

See BARSCOL, p. 84.

*Dal-nör : this is possibly Ta-êrh-nao-êrh, the « Dalai-nör ».

See CINGHIS, p. 355.

dalai : real Mongol word for « ocean », corresponding to Turk. talū.

See CINGHIS, p. 301.

dalai-in qa'an : « Oceanic Emperor », title given to Ögödäi in the Secret History.

See CINGHIS, p. 301.

dalai-in qan : « oceanic Emperor »; title given to Güyük, Ögödäi's successor, on his Mongol seal in his letter to Innocent IV in 1246.

See CINGHIS, p. 301.

Dalai-lama : Mongol-Tibetan title « Oceanic religious lord », i. e. « Universal ».

See CINGHIS, p. 301.

Dalai-nör : or Ta-êrh hai-tzū, situated about 120 km NNE of Dolon-nör (Lama-miao).

See BARSCOL, p. 84.

Dalai-nör : « Sea Lake »; this cannot be the original form of the « Dalai-nör » of our maps.

See CINGHIS, p. 355.

« Dalai-nör » : north-north-east of Dolon-nör, it is « the modern Talnor » of Palladius.

See CINGHIS, p. 355.

« Dalāi-nūr » or Pu-yü-êrh-hai.

See BARSCOL, p. 84.

Dalan-dabā : « Seventy Passes », probably the Ta-lan-ta-pa of Čayān's biography.

See CINGHIS, p. 313.

*Dalan-Dabā : (or *Dalan-Dabās) this place was certainly in Mongolia.

See CINGHIS, p. 313.

Dalan-daba'a : > Dalan-dabā, probably Ta-lan-ta-pa.

See CINGHIS, p. 313.

*Dalan-Dabās : (or *Dalan-Dabā) this place was certainly in Mongolia.

See CINGHIS, p. 313.

« Damas » : usual French form of Domas.

See DOMAS, p. 627.

Damascus (Dimišq and Dimašq).

See DOMAS, p. 627.

-dan : it may be, but cannot be proved, that in *Godan, it is the same as in Humdan.

See COTAN, p. 412.

-dan, -d'an : this is the second element of *Jiu-d'ien, Yü-t'ien.

See COTAN, p. 408.

Darḡin : approximately dated in the 6th cent. of our era.

See COWRIES, p. 557.

dar miyānah-i mäh-i päyiz : (Rašid for the month of Chinghiz-khan's death) « in the middle of the month of autumn ».

See CINGHIS, p. 306.

*Dar-nör : this is the form suggested by the Ch. Ta-êrh-nao-êrh, « Dalai-nör ».

See CINGHIS, p. 355.

Darḡan-ūla : « Ironsmith Mountain », where Chinghiz-khan's anvil was said to be preserved; it is too far west to be mentioned in Yung-lo's itinerary.

See CINGHIS, p. 359.

Darḡan-ūla : this name is not reconcilable with that of the Tas-ūla.

See CINGHIS, p. 360.

darḡat : five hundred families of them had to guard Chinghiz-khan's tomb according to the Li-fan-yüan tsê-li.

See CINGHIS, p. 347.

Dari-γangγa : modern form, suggests the original *Dar-nör for the « Dalai-nör ».

See CINGHIS, p. 355.

Dari-γangγa : Yung-lo passed there.

See CINGHIS, p. 358.

« *Dari Lake » : Ch. Ta-li-po.

See CINGHIS, p. 355.

Dariel Pass : (Caucasus).

See ALAINS, p. 17.

DARIUS.

Other forms : « Daire » or « Dayre ».