

- huo-pei ch'ien* : « currency-shell coins », name given in recent works to the i-pi ch'ien, bronze imitations of cowries.
See COWRIES, p. 539.
- huo-shih* : « currency goods »; the tzü-pei were collected for this use in Hai-nan according to Mao Chin.
See COWRIES, p. 541.
- Huo-tun nao-êrh : Mongol name of the Hsing-hsiu-hai given in YS, i.e. Hodun na'ur; the name has nothing in common with A-tuan or O-tuan.
See COTAN, p. 416.
- Hurmus : occurs occasionally for Ahura-mazda; form taken in Persian by the name of Hermes Trismegistus.
See CURMOS, p. 580.
- Hurmüz : (or Hurmuz) Hormuz or Ormus in the Persian Gulf.
See CURMOS, p. 576.
- *Hurtaqta : Hu-êrh-tu-ta seems to represent that.
See CURMOS, p. 581.
- Huruqtai : Külġān's grandson.
See NOMOGAN, p. 796.
- Hušġin : mother of Ayaġi.
See CUBLAI, p. 568.
- Hušin : tribe of Hušġin.
See CUBLAI, p. 568.
- Hūna : rendered in Chinese by Hsiung-nu.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- hügäġi* : (hükäġin), mediaeval form of the modern Mongol word ükärġi.
See CINGHIS, p. 290.
- Hügäġi : the Chinese transcription and that of Polo seem to point to that pronunciation.
See COGACIN, p. 394.
- Hügäġi : (Rašid) this is « Cogacin », Qubilai's fifth son according to YS, and sixth son according to Rašid.
See COGACIN, p. 394.
- Hügäġi : he was appointed prince of Yün-nan in 1267; he was poisoned in 1271.
See COGACIN, p. 394.
- Hügäġi : may be the son of Dörbäġin.
See CUBLAI, p. 568.
- Hügäġi : 6th son of Qubilai.
See CUBLAI, p. 569.
- Hügäġi : father of Äsan-tämür.
See ESENTEMUR, p. 649.
- Hükäġi : this would be more regular than the pronunciation Hügäġi suggested by the Chinese transcription and that of Polo.
See COGACIN, p. 394.
- hükäġin* : (hügäġi) mediaeval form of the modern Mongol word ükärġi.
See CINGHIS, p. 290.
- hükäġin* : this form occurring in the Secret History confirms the fall of the -r in Hügäġi.
See COGACIN, p. 394.
- hükär* : > ükär, « ox », the mediaeval derivation of which is hügäġi, hükäġin.
See CINGHIS, p. 290.
- hükär* : (> ükär) « ox », one of the Mongol words which, in the Mongol period, were still pronounced with an initial h (< **p*-) although the Uigh.-Mong. writing did not register it.
See COGACIN, p. 394.
- *Hükärtü-jubur : « Hökörtü-jubur », mentioned west of the Burġan-qaldun.
See CINGHIS, p. 340.
- Hüläġü : (Hsü-lieh-wu). Abaya's father.
See ABAGA, p. 3.
- Hüläġü : (Bayan was sent to Persia with).
See BAIAN CINGSAN, p. 67.
- Hüläġü : grandfather of Baidu.
See BAIDU, p. 69.
- Hüläġü : (war with Bärkä) it was directly or indirectly the cause of the journey of the elder Polos to Bukhara.
Real date of the conflict (?)
See BERCA, p. 94.
- Hüläġü : (about Kökä).
See BOLGANA, p. 98.
- Hüläġü : (when the elder Polos reached Bokhara, the city belonged to).
(See « Barac », p. 75).
See BUCARA, p. 109.
- Hüläġü : (Ghazan was the great-grandson of).
See CAÇAN, p. 120.
- Hüläġü : brother of Qubilai.
See CAIDU, p. 127.
- Hüläġü : at his death, nobody could go out.
See CINGHIS, p. 329.
- Hüläġü : according to some passages of Rašid, he was not buried at the same place as Chinghiz-khan.
See CINGHIS, p. 354.
- Hüläġü : Tolui's fifth son, born about 1216, arrived in Persia in February 1256, captured Bagdad on Febr. 5, 1258 and died on Febr. 8, 1265. Polo's « Ulaü ».
See ULAU, p. 866.
- *Hümäġäi : the prince of Ning.
See CINGHIS, p. 350.
- Hvam : usual name for Khotan in late khotanese texts.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- Hvamna : = *Hvanna, *Hvanna; Hsüan-tsang's Huan-na is a faithful rendering of it.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- Hvamna- : usual name for Khotan in late Khotanese texts.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- hvamnaa-* : adjective, « Khotanese ».
See COTAN, p. 411.
- Hvamnya : locative sing. of a Khotanese name of Khotan.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- Hvana- : usual name for Khotan in late Khotanese texts.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- hvaṇaa-* : adjective, « Khotanese ».
See COTAN, p. 411.
- *Hvanna, *Hvanna : = Hvamna, a Khotanese name of Khotan, Hsüang-tsang's Huan-na.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- Hvanya : locative sing. of a Khotanese name of Khotan.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- Hvatana- : usual name for Khotan in late Khotanese texts.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- hvatanaa-* : adjective, « Khotanese ».
See COTAN, p. 411.
- Hvatäna- : usual name for Khotan in late Khotanese texts.
See COTAN, p. 411.
- Hvatäna-, Hvatana- : original form of the Khotanese name for Khotan.
See COTAN, p. 411.