

- tan* : Ch., « picul », of 100 pounds.
See COWRIES, p. 563.
- Tan [-chou] : under the T'ang, official name of the modern Tan-chou in Hai-nan.
See COWRIES, p. 541.
- Tan-ch'ien* : (in Wang Shih-mou) this is Yang Shên's Tan-ch'ien hsü-lu.
See COTTON, p. 481.
- tan-êrh* : « pendant ears » of the Ai-lao mentioned in the Hou-Han shu (hence the chün of Tan-êrh under the Han).
See COTTON, p. 445.
- tan-hu* : wrong spelling adopted for shan-yü, sometimes tan-yü, the title of the ancient Hsiung-nu Emperors.
See ÇULFICAR, p. 611.
- Tan-lo : (Quelpaert) on October 18, 1282, was ordered, with other places, to build vessels (YS).
See ÇAITON, p. 591.
- Tan-ma-ling : a ruler in Malay Peninsula.
See SANGON, p. 826.
- tan-mu* : this is a combination of Li-tan and Li-mu.
See COTTON, p. 496.
- tan-pu-lo* : mentioned by Hsüan-tsang. It is the transcription of Skr. tāmbūla, betel-leaf.
See TAMBUR, p. 845.
- Tan-yang : a district south-east of Chên-chiang.
See MARSARCHIS, p. 776.
- Tan-yang : given by the Ching-shih ta-tien as a water and a land stage between Chên-chiang and Hang-chou.
See VUGIU, p. 872.
- Tan-yang-kuan : a well-known government hostelry at Chên-chiang.
See MARSARCHIS, p. 776.
- tan-yü* : this pronunciation suggested for shan-yü, the old Hsiung-nu title, is erroneous.
See CINGHIS, p. 297.
- tan-yü* : this reading of shan-yü, the title of the ancient Hsiung-nu Emperors, may explain Martini's « Taniu », Mongolia.
See ÇULFICAR, p. 611.
- T'an-ch'ih : Vast Lake (?).
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 705.
- T'an-huan (Mount) : (*T'âm-yân) occurs in Chinese sources for the Tafqân mountain.
See CARACHOÇO, p. 164.
- T'an-kung* : chapter of the Li-chi; mention is made there of pei put into the mouth of the dead.
See COWRIES, p. 537.
- T'an-k'ou : a relay between Chi-ning and Huai-an, according to Yung-lo ta-tien.
See LINGIU, p. 763.
- T'an-t'an : (or Ta-t'an) an alternative name indicated for the Avars in the Sung shu.
See CIORCIA, p. 385.
- T'an-t'u-êrh-hai : (*Tamturqai) Hoshih-la halted there (YS).
See CINGHIS, p. 321.
- TANA.
On Thāna, on the island of Salsette, cf. Y, II, 396.
See p. 845-846.
- Tana : near Bombay.
See ABASCE, p. 6.
- Tana : (near Bombay; Polo mentions « buckram » at).
See BUCKRAM, p. 110.
- Tanah ri Malayu : « Land of Malayu » is a designation of all Sumatra given in the Javanese poem Nāgarakrētagāma.
See JAVA THE LESS, p. 757.
- tang-ch'ieh* : (taṅga), a silver coin used in Bengal (Ying-yai shêng-lan).
See COWRIES, p. 559.
- Tang-hsiang : Tangut tribes on the borders of southern Kan-su and north-western Ssü-chuan.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 690.
- Tang-hsiang : name of a tribe.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 693.
- Tang-hsiang : Tangutan tribes often fighting with the Kingdom of Women.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 695.
- Tang-hsiang : they were near the « Eastern Kingdom of Women ».
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 700.
- Tang-Hsiang.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 703.
- Tang-hsiang : they are the ancestors of the Tangutan tribes of Kan-su and the descendants of the earlier Ch'iang. They described themselves as having a monkey ancestry.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 716.
- Tang-hsiang : people against which « Kingdom of Women » fought.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 716.
- Tang-mi : another name of the To-mi.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 690-691.
- Tang-mi : older form of To-mi.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 694.
- t'ang chia* : taṅka > taṅga, 'tanga' silver coin of Bengal, weighs 2 mace 8 candareens (Tao-i chih-liao).
See COWRIES, p. 558.
- T'ang Chien-tso : a high official sent by the queen Han-pi to the Court.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 701.
- [T'ang] Hsi-li : the correct reading of T'ang Li-hsi.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 702.
- T'ang Hsi-tsan : king of the Kingdom of Hsi-tung, who came in 793 to join the Empire.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 702.
- T'ang hui yao* : Shêng Ju-tzü erroneously says that the term lung-chung-yang occurs there.
See COTTON, p. 514.
- T'ang hui-yao* : (of 804, as quoted in the Pei-hu lu of c. 875) it mentions the story of the wāqwāq tree.
See COTTON, p. 518.
- T'ang hui-yao* : (of 961) it mentions the story of the wāqwāq tree.
See COTTON, p. 518.
- T'ang Li-hsi : King of the Kingdom of Women arrived in 793 to join the Empire.
See FEMELES (ISLAND OF WOMEN), p. 701-702.
- T'ang pên chu* : this work mentioned by Mao Chin in unknown.
See COWRIES, p. 541.
- T'ang pên-ts'ao* : the author of one of its redactions is Su Kung (mentioned in the T'u-ching).
See COWRIES, p. 542.
- T'ang Shên-wei : author of the Chêng-lei pên-ts'ao.
See COWRIES, p. 542.