

52	ROME . . .	Vatican Library, No. 2935	Latin	An old Latin abridgment of Polo, entitled De Mirabilibus Mundi . The same volume contains a tract, De Mirabilibus Romae , to which also Polo's name is given. Paper, 14th cent.	Baldelli-Boni and Lasari.
53	ROME . . .	Vatican Library, No. 3153	Latin	Pipino's. Very neat and clean; apparently of 14th cent. Parchment.	*
54	ROME . . .	Vatican Library, No. 5260	Latin	Pipino's. Very clearly and regularly written. Apparently 15th cent.	*
55	ROME . . .	Barberini Library, XXXIV. 4	Latin	A MS. volume, containing Ricold of Monte Croce; Tractatus divisionis et ambitus Orbis Terrarum, etc.; Liber de divisione Orbis Terrarum; Libellus de Mirabilibus Urbis Romae; and " Incipit de Morum et Gentium Varietatibus editus a Marcho Polo Veneto. " It is very cramply written, much compressed, and has no division into books or chapters. Ends with " Roscia, provincia maxima. " " Explicit libellus editus a Dno. Marcho Polo de Venetiis de diversis provinciis et gentibus mundi, et earum ritibus et moribus diversis et artibus. " Parchment, large thin 4to, 14th cent.	*
56	ROME . . .	Barberini Library, LVIII. 40	Italian (Venetian dial)	This is the fragment spoken of, vol. i. p. 101, note. It is a transcript made apparently in the 17th cent., from a MS. written in 1465.	*
57	ROME . . .	Barberini Library, No. 934	Italian	I give this on Baldelli's authority. I did not see it on my visit to the Barberini.	Baldelli-Boni.
