

and 2810. Cf. L. Delisle, Bib. de l'Ecole des Chartes, XLIII., 1882, pp. 226-235, 424. It is incomplete, and ends: "Et se aucuns disoit qui a lui."—Cf. Paris MS., 1880. [Our No. 22.]

It belonged to the Library of the French King, Charles V. (1364-1380), and later, as marked on the recto of the last folio, "Pour Symon du Solier demorant à Honnefleu," who was "procureur-syndic des manants et habitants de la ville de Honfleu."

Translated from the Latin version . . .

G. Raynaud, Romania, XI.

85 STOCKHOLM.

Royal Library,
French, No. 38

French