

- Pichalok, ii. 279ⁿ
 Pievtsov, General, i. 188ⁿ; expedition, 200ⁿ
 Pigeon posts, i. 438ⁿ
 Pig-shells, ii. 85
 Piju (Pei-chau), ii. 141
 Pilgrimage, to Adam's Sepulchre in Ceylon, ii. 319; to Shrine of St. Thomas, 353
 "Pillar Road," ii. 32ⁿ
 Pima (Pim), i. 191, 192ⁿ
 Pinati, king of Kaulam, ii. 380ⁿ
 Pine woods in Mongolian desert, i. 224
 — in South China, ii. 251ⁿ
 P'ing-chang, Fanchán, or second class Minister, i. 432ⁿ
 P'ing-yang fu (Pianfu), ii. 13, 16ⁿ, 25ⁿ
 Pinna-Cael (Punnei-Káyal), ii. 372ⁿ
 Pipino, Friar Francesco, 66, 81, 95, 103, i. 19ⁿ, 22ⁿ, 23ⁿ; 144ⁿ, 156ⁿ, 395ⁿ, ii. 120ⁿ, 517ⁿ
 Pirabandi or Bir Pandi (Vira Pandi), ii. 333ⁿ-335ⁿ
 Pirada, ii. 305ⁿ
 Pirates of Malabar, ii. 389-390ⁿ; Guzerat, 392; Tana, 395; Somnath, 400ⁿ; Socotra, 407, 410ⁿ
 Piratical customs at Eli, ii. 385, 390ⁿ
 Pistachioes, i. 97, 114ⁿ, 125ⁿ, 153, 155ⁿ
 Plane, Oriental or Chinár, i. 127, 128ⁿ, 131ⁿ, 135ⁿ, 138ⁿ
 Plano Carpini, 15, passim
 Pog, or Fiag River, i. 54ⁿ
 Poison, antidote to, ii. 79
 Poisoning guests, custom of, ii. 84ⁿ
 Poisonous pasturage, i. 217, 218ⁿ
 Poison wind, i. 108, 120ⁿ
 Poland, Mongol invasion of, ii. 493ⁿ
 Pole, or Jackdaw on Polo's scutcheon, 7
 Pole-star, invisible in Java the Less, ii. 284, 292; visible again in India, 382, 389, 392, 397
 Police; of Cambaluc, i. 414; Kinsay, ii. 187, 188
 Politeness of Chinese, i. 457, 462ⁿ
 Polo, Andrea, grandfather of Marco, 8, 14, 26
 — Antonio, illegitimate son of Elder Marco, 26
 — Bellela, second daughter, 69, 71; died before 1333, 76, ii. 506ⁿ
 — Donata, wife of Traveller, 69, 71; sale of property to her husband, 30, ii. 507, 512; death between 1333-1336, 76; before Council, 77; may have been Loredano, 69, 77, 510ⁿ, 512ⁿ, 518ⁿ, 520ⁿ
 — or Bragadino, Fantina, eldest daughter of Traveller, 69, 71, 76, ii. 506ⁿ, 513ⁿ
 — Felice, a cousin, 25, 64
 — Fiordelisa, wife of last, 25, 65
 Polo, Fiordelisa, daughter of Maffeo the Younger, 17, 64
 — Maffeo, brother of Nicolo, 14, 15, 64; in Kan-chau, i. 220; time of death between 1309 and 1318, 66
 — Maffeo, brother of Traveller, 15, 16; probabilities as to birth, 17, 18, 25; will of, 26, ii. 510ⁿ; abstract from, 64-66
 — Marco, the elder son of Andrea, Uncle of the Traveller, 14; his will, 17, 25, 26, i. 4, ii. 510ⁿ
 — Marco, the Traveller, veracity, perplexities in his biography, 1; Ramusio's notices, extracts from, 2 seqq.; recognition of his names of places, paralleled with Columbus, 3, 105; nicknamed Millioni, 6, 67; story of his capture at Curzola, 6; writes his book in prison at Genoa, 6; release and marriage, 7; arms, 7; claim to nobility, 14; supposed autograph, ib.; his birth, circumstances of, 15; is taken to East, 18; employed by Kúblái, mentioned in Chinese Records, 21, see i. 420; mission to Yun-nan, 21; governor of Yang-chau, 22; employed at Kan-chau, Kara Korum, Champa and Indian Seas, 22; returns home, 23-24; mentioned in his Uncle Marco's will, 25; commands a galley at Curzola, 46; taken prisoner and carried to Genoa, 48; his imprisonment there, 52; dictates his book to Rusticiano, 52; release and return to Venice, 52; evidence as to story of capture, 53-55; dying vindication of his book, 54; executor to his brother Maffeo, 64; record of exemption from municipal penalty, 66; gives copy of book to T. de Cepoy, 68; marriage and daughters, 69; lawsuit with Paulo Girardo, proceeding regarding house property, 70; illness and last will, 70-74; probable date of death, 74; place of burial, 74; professed portraits of, 75-76; alleged wealth, 77; estimate of him and of his book, 104 seqq.; true claims to glory, 106; faint indications of personality, 107; rare indications of humour, 108; absence of scientific notions, 109; geographical data in book, 109; his acquisition of languages, ignorance of Chinese, deficiencies in Chinese notices, 110; historical notices, 111; allusions to Alexander, 113; incredulity about his stories, 115; contemporary recognition, 116 seqq.; by T. de Cepoy, Friar Pipino, 118; J. d'Acqui, Giov. Villani, and P. d'Abano, 119; notice by John of Ypres, 121; borrowings in poem of Bauduin de Sebourc, 121 seqq.; Chaucer and, 128; influence