

(JE).

The image shows a fragment of ancient papyrus with several columns of handwritten text in a cursive script, likely from the Dead Sea Scrolls. The text is arranged in approximately six vertical columns, reading from right to left. The script is dense and appears to be a form of Hebrew or Aramaic. The papyrus is dark and shows signs of age and wear, with some areas of discoloration and fraying at the edges. The text is written in a consistent, flowing hand, with some larger characters that may represent specific words or markers. The fragment is positioned vertically on a light-colored background.