

- Toghraklik, site N. of Charkhlik, ruined enclosure at, 166 n. 7.
- Toghraks, wild poplars: Toghraks, dead, marking old water channels or former flood levels, 72, 73, 75, 76, 78, 144, 183, 184, 192, 193, 205, 206, 208, 219, 364, 733, 737, 745, 766, 767.
- Toghraks, living, 63, 430, 562, 723, 729; marking ancient river-beds, 364, 749, 768, 774.
- Tokhārī B, ancient Indo-European language of Kuchā, 803.
- Tokhāristān, dispatches from ruler of, to Chinese emperor, 3, 37.
- Tokhta Ākhūn, treasure-seeker of Is-lāmābād, 93, 100, 180, 273.
- Tokhta Ākhūn-ku-atkan-köl, basin, 182.
- Toksu, ancient circumvallation at, 808.
- T'o-li or T'o-leih, kingdom of, mentioned by Fa-hsien, 20; identified with Darēl, 21.
- toilet box deposited with dead, (Astāna) 665, 705.
- Tong. = Tonguz-bāsh.
- Tonguluk-bulak, near Murtuk, cultivation at, 636.
- Tonguz-bāsh, ruined town SW. of Kuchā, 809; finds at, and date, 810, 822; remains of Buddhist shrines, 810.
- top-knot, on stucco relief, (Lāl-tāgh) 81.
- T'ou-tun, 'the chief tower', modern name for T. XLIII. 1, 395.
- 'Town of the Dragon', Li Tao-yüan's story of, 293, 762; not a ruined site, 294; story suggested by belt of Mesas along Chinese 'route of the centre', 294.
- Toy. = Toyuk, objects from ruins, 620 sqq.
- Toyuk, village of Turfān, 614; previous exploration of, 614; ruined shrines, 615 sq.; frs. of stucco reliefs, 616; frescoes showing Western influence, 617; frescoes from cave-shrine, 618; objects from, 620 sqq.; coins from, 614 sqq., 993; pottery from, 1014; documents from, 1029, 1048.
- transport: skill of Chinese organization in dealing with, 337 sqq.; use of camels, 340; cart traffic, 340.
- tray, wooden, (Niya) 146 n. 20, 151.
- 'treasure-seekers', native, 92; destruction caused by, 440, 816.
- 'tree of life', in Sasanian art, possibly foreshadowed in Chinese art, 244.
- trees, treatment of, on figured silks, 251; in Chinese painting, (Astāna) 656.
- trefoil arch, containing figure of Buddha, (Ch'ien-fo-tung reliefs) 361.
- Trimūrti, three-headed deity, in frescoes, 129, 132, 137; in block-prints, 494; drawing, 505; on seal, 822, 829.
- Tsagan-gulu, springs of, 527.
- Tsé-tien, 'fertilizing the fields', temple of, mentioned by Wang Yen-tê, located at Chik-tam, 582 n. 6.
- Ts'in, lake, in Han Annals, identified with Tur-köl, 541.
- Ts'ung-ling, meridional range dividing Pāmirs from basin of Tārīm, 764 n. 14.
- tu-hu, 'Protector-General' or 'Governor-General', 795 n. 11.
- T'u-lu-fan, name of Turfān city in Ming Annals, 717.
- Tüge-tam, ruined enclosure, 800.
- tugh, weir for reservoir, 181.
- Tügin-tar, rock gate of Kara-tāsh, 63.
- Tui valley, route to Yärkhun, 44.
- Tülküch-köl, lakelet, 142.
- Tülküch-köl-tārīm, agricultural colony, 140; threatened abandonment of, 140.
- Tum-shuk, village, change of road near, 837; ruined Buddhist shrines near, 840.
- TUMANOVICH, Captain, Russian commandant at Nut, kind reception by, 876.
- Tun-huang, revisited, 354 sqq.; official changes, 354. See Limes.
- Tun-huang Lu, manuscript of T'ang period, on Yüeh-ya-ch'üan, 356.
- Tung-érh-shan, well, 530.
- Tungan rebellion, devastation caused by, 353, 556.
- Tungan troops, suppress Chinese 'Revolutionaries', 160, 163.
- Türān Bēg of Shākh-dara, local information received from, 879, 881.
- Turfān, archaeology of: abundance of pre-Muhammadan remains, 566; previous explorations of, 566; collection of archaeological finds in Berlin, 567; difficulty caused by continuous occupation, 586; ruined sites of, 587 sqq. See Kao-ch'ang, Kara-khōja, Toyuk, Murtuk, Astāna, &c.
- Turfān, history of: Chinese historical notices, 568 sqq.; part of Anterior Chü-shih, 568; close connexion with Posterior Chü-shih (Guchen), 568; common political fate of both territories, 569; description of, in Former Han Annals, 569 sq.; used as base for Hun raids on Chinese route to 'Western countries', 570; Chinese attacks upon, 89-67 B.C., 570; Chinese control established, 60 B.C., 571; defection to Huns, 571; Chinese authority annihilated, A.D. 23, 572.
- from later Han to T'ang times, 572 sqq.; Hun domination of, 572; Chinese control re-established, A.D. 89, 573; abandoned to Huns, A.D. 107, 573; Chinese influence during Chin epoch, 575; secured by Wu-hui, 575; under rule of An-chou, 575; predominance of the Juan-Juan in fifth century, 576; rule of Ch'ü family, 576; homage paid to Sui emperor, 576; described in Pei-shih, 576; Chinese customs and administration introduced, 575, 576; dangers of desert route to Tun-huang, 576; notices of, in T'ang shu, 577; Chinese expedition against Ch'ü Wên-tai, 577; organized under Protectorate of An-hsi, 578; Hsüan-tsang's passage through, 579; difficulty of maintaining communication with China in A.D. 781, 580; proposal to surrender to Tibetans, 580; final phase of Chinese occupation, 580; increasing Tibetan attacks, 580; under the Uighurs, 581 sq.; importance of, to occupiers of Guchen, 582; chief seat of Uighur domination, 582; prosperity of, 583 n. 6; summer migration of king to Pei-t'ing, 584; Uighur dominion retained under Mongol rule, 584; passes under suzerainty of Chagatai's family, 585; late survival of Buddhism, 585.
- Turfān basin, physical features of: aridity, 583; necessity of irrigation, 568, 586; fertility and continuous cultivation, 568, 579, 586; depth below sea-level, 711; salt marsh in depression compared with Lop sea-bed, 719.
- communications: traditions of desert route to Tun-huang, 273, 310, 377; route to Lop, 720; to Lou-lan, 743; importance to Chinese of road through Turfān to west, 574, 578; meeting-place for Chinese and Western trade, 672.
- Tur-kol, lake, abundant grazing lands, 536.
- Turdi, Dāk carrier, 319.
- Turkestan, Russian, permission to travel through granted, 843.
- Turkī language, predominance of in Tārīm basin due to Uighur domination, 582.
- Turkish tribes occupying Barkul in T'ang period, 545.
- Turkomān race, Iranian blood in, 898; slave raids in Khorāsān, 898.
- TURNER, Colonel H. H., Survey of India, help of, ix.
- Tushkan-chöl, camp at, 90.
- Tūtins, reed rafts used on Hāmūn, 925 n. 14.
- Tuzluk ('the salt place'), salt diggings, 84.
- U.Z. = Ulūgh-ziārat.
- Udyāna, or Uḍḍiyāna, ancient name of Swāt, 20.
- Uighurs, or Uigurs, migrate to S. and SW. from Mongolia in ninth century, 581; break Tibetan supremacy in E. Turkestan, 581; extent of their dominion, 581, 583; effects of their domination in Turkestan, 581; Wang Yen-tê's description of, 584; dominion over Turfān maintained under Mongol supremacy, 584; government shifted to Kuchā in eleventh century, 584; mixture of religions among, 585.