

Marriage, its various forms, 150; relation of, to private property, 154
 Medinsky, General, courtesy of, 13
 Miles, Colonel, our reception by, 31; has clerk with remarkable ancestry, 40
 Mir Mullah, piety of, 35; his weak prayer-tones, 103
 Mirage, troubles caused by, 87
 Mission, for negotiation, reasons for sending, 230; commercial, proposed by Great Britain, 211
 Missionaries, their usual lives, 127; Moravian, at Ladak Leh, 125; their methods of conversion, 126; literary work of, 285
 Mohammed Joo, his character, 50; his skill with horses, 79; our parting with, 132
 Mohammedanism, its status in China, 36
 Monastery, at Ladak Leh, 128
 Monasticism, effect and extent of, in Tibet, 153, 156; relation of, to poverty, 157; orders of, in Tibet, 160
 Mongolia, compared with Turkestan, 8; limits and area of, 142; character of, 144
 Mongols, interference of, in Tibet, 195; probable relation between them and Tarki people, 264; various families of, 269
 Monogamy, is democratic, 150
 Morality of British expedition discussed, 250

N

Nestorian doctrine presented in China, 268

Nobility, position of, in Tibet, 161
 Nobra Valley, beauty of, 121
North American Review, quotation from, 241

O

Omar Khayyam, his ideal contrasted with Colonel Sullivan's, 138
 Opium war, effect of, upon Tibet, 203
 Orenberg, education of Russians there,
 Osh, organisation of caravan there, 25
 Oxus. See Amon Daria

P

Palace of former Ladaki king, 129
 Panamik village, substantial character of, 121
 Pasturage, exchange of, between Tibet and Sikkim, 295
 Peking, telegraph line from, to Kashgar, 37
 Petrofsky, Consul General, first visit to, 31; influence of, on Chinese governor, 41; his attitude toward us doubtful, 43; his farewell visit, 44
 Phagspa, appointed as ruler of Tibet, 193
 Polu, march to, from Khotan, 65; geographical importance of, 66; strange Russian seen in, 66; Bey of, his policy toward strangers, 70; ascent from, to plateau, 72
 Polyandry, has responsibilities, 13; its relations to land-holding, 150; produces restraint upon population, 152