Range is well drawn. Other mountains are simply sketched as fitting in between the rivers or as marginal circles around lake basins, such as the Koko-nor and Buka-nor. Being a hundred years old the map is, however, of great interest.

As I have pointed out before, Klaproth became a guide to his great German contemporaries. After their time, and when the regions about the Kara-korum Mountains attracted the special attention of the Royal Geographical Society of London, his great merits had nearly fallen into oblivion. On the other hand, heaps were written about his mistakes and shortcomings, as shall be shown in a later chapter of this volume.

ALEXANDER VON HUMBOLDT.

Is all proceeding vinepter and have adrends deals with ArizeAconse von Monpreserve répas prograding the great mountain systems of Asia! Here only a few martations droin his works may be sufficient.

In 1829 the abolist recomplished his burney to the Kirgin supplets and Altai, the most important result of which was his great work, Altai, Altai, I have most important result of which was his full of new perspectives and brilliant ideas. That alcosed several years before this jurney he had directed his attention to the couplete maners of Central Asia: In 1816 he published an article on the height of the mountains to the north and N.W. of India.

there he specks of the difficulty of measuing the height of mountains sirenced for form the coast, amongst of us are the distance of the area of the a

The necessary marchal for his conclusions he gathers from Hartin' (ON), and health and health and the connection of the first of the latter, it is a superssearch while the researches of the latter, it is about expresses the following very sooms with a the morphology of the north of limitary it is stimpossible, de refliching in a section of the north of the articles is groupe de montagned as it is about the groupe de montagned as first baseling the electron plus electron.

allie feels convinced of the orisoner of anomormous plateau-handoin the interior of Asia, the feels provinced of teernary, a longer part of which has, however, a very insignificant heights and a second of first graduation of the second of the seco

uni respirate particulation in the similar of the second of the second of the second of the contract of the co

is the and old rest the spellings the door, out the door, and the double of the limited the Black Alexandrans to the course of the antition, thinking or Henmandral and the course the antition, thinking or Henmandral and the anchests.