

lated arid regions of Mongolia and Turkestan on her northern and western borders will offer easy and promising avenues of expansion, analogous to those presented by our own arid southwest. Development will probably nowhere take place more rapidly and surely than in the Lop basin, for nowhere else does so much water go to waste.