

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

Dungans from the village of Sonanpa	543
A 26-year old Dungan from Hochow	545
Ku, the 62-year old Dungan mullah at Hochow	547
Brass case containing paintings of Buddha etc., worn round the neck. From the Hochow-Labrang section	550
Painting of Buddha in metal frame, worn on the breast. From the Hochow-Labrang section	551
Young Tibetan women at work in the village of Vangathan, about 70 li N of Labrang	552
A stone with carved images of Buddha near the village of Vangathan	553
The »Gegen» or incarnate Buddha in the lamasery at Shaku sy	557
View of Labrang from the opposite bank of the river	558
Suburgan tower at Labrang	559
26-year old lama at Labrang	560
The 26-year old lama in profile	561
The Matsua sy temple at Labrang, from the east	563
Tanguts in the yard of the sarai at Labrang	564
Tanguts in the yard of the sarai at Labrang	565
Beautifully worked praying drum, fastened to a pole, carried by a rider while travelling on horseback From Labrang	566
Objects used by the officiating lamas at ceremonies in Buddhist temples: two kinds of thunderbolts (»dordjie») and a triangular dagger with a hilt consisting of a »dordjie» and a skull. From Labrang	567
A Buddhist rosary, broken by red balls and small thunderbolts (»dordjie») fastened to the forks. From Labrang	569
A rosary composed of the vertebrae of snakes. From Labrang	569
A Tangut from the neighbourhood of Khi tha shan	570
A 70-year old Tangut from Khi tha shan	571
A Tangut village not far from the village of Vankur	572
A group of Tangut women in a village between Labrang and Taochow	573
A Tangut woman collecting droppings	574
A Tangut woman collecting droppings	575
Tanguts in the market-place at Taochow (Sin-cheng)	576
An old Tangut woman watering her horse and donkey	578
A Tangut mounted on a donkey	579
Tangut women digging in the village of Tahlishi	581
A 70-year old Tangut in the village of Tahlishi	582
A 38-year old Tangut on horseback	586
A 30-year old Tangut from the village of Katani on horseback	587
Impromptu sketch by a Tibetan encountered on the road, who had never seen European paper nor had a pencil in his hand	591
The Nanshan miao at Tsinchow with a thousand-year old tree and a ruin in the courtyard	595
Cleaning tobacco on a factory roof at Tsinchow	596
Cleaning tobacco on a factory roof at Tsinchow	597
Prince Yangtchung lei and some Tanguts from Tibet at Si-an-fu on the way to Yutai Shan	602
Prince Yangtchung lei from Tibet	603
A Tangut from Tibet on the way to Yutai Shan	610
The same Tibetan Tangut as in the previous illustration	611
Two platoons of infantry drilling at Si-an-fu	621
Troops at Si-an-fu performing gymnastic exercises	623
The Roman Catholic mission at Si-an-fu	630
The weaving room of the girls' school in the Roman Catholic convent at Si-an-fu	631
The outer courtyard of the palace occupied by the Emperor of China in 1900, while a fugitive at Si-an-fu	634
Garden of the yamen, in which the Emperor of China stayed during his flight to Si-an-fu	635
The principal mosque at Si-an-fu: the courtyard and pagodas	636
An antique image of Buddha of red and gold lacquered wood from Labrang and two bronze images from Si-an-fu	637