

I have to smoke all the time to be able to read the compass and watch, but with my notes I have not much difficulty, owing to a method which has no other drawback except that it requires much paper. Now it is four o'clock; yesterday it was still quite dark at half-past five! Patience! I hum and whistle to pass the time, and next time I look at the watch it is only five minutes past four!