

ILLUSTRATIONS

xiii

PAGE

255.	The English Consulate in Nasretabad	290
256.	On the Road from Nasretabad	290
257.	The Hilmend	294
258.	Two of my Servants taking Water from the Hilmend	294
259.	One of the Dromedaries being towed over Rud-i-Seistan	298
260.	A Boundary Pyramid and a Baluchi	298
261.	Horizontally Bedded Clay	302
262.	The Gumbez near the Shela	302
263.	Through Wind Furrows in the Clay Desert	304
264.	Among Clay Ridges	304
265.	The Point in the Bed of the Shela	306
266.	Salt Water in the Bed of the Shela	306
267.	Sterile Gravelly Desert	308
268.	Siaret-i-Malek-Siah	308
269.	Setting out from Kuh-i-Malek-Siah	310
270.	My Riding-Camel on the Way from Nasretabad to Robot	310
271.	The Author at the Station-House of Robot	312
272.	A "Levy-House" on the Road to Nushki	312
273.	My Jambas Grazing	314
274.	Camping under a Tamarisk	314
275.	A Fine Saxaul	314
276.	Among Close Saxauls	314
277.	The Shela	316
278.	The Shela between Steppe and Low Sandhills	316
279.	Dunes at Zirre	318
280.	Returning to the Main Road	318
281.	A Station-House on the Road to Nushki	320
282.	Some of my Men in Double Saddles	320
283.	Two of our Running Dromedaries	324
284.	A Group of Baluchis	326
285.	Nomad Tent	328
286.	Nomad Tent	328
287.	A Nomad Tent	330
288.	Four Baluchis	332
289.	A Landscape in Baluchistan	332