

hops. He never loses sight of the murderer's track, and watches for a suitable opportunity to deal his blow of revenge. Farther east, and in Baluchistan, still more monstrous stories are told of the tarantula's watchfulness and vindictiveness.