

54. FRESCOES OF WINGED FIGURES FROM DADO OF PASSAGE
IN RUINED BUDDHIST SHRINE, EXCAVATED AT MIRAN SITE.

SCALE, ONE-FIFTH.

square inside but circular within and enclosed a small Stupa fallen from the vaulting and the masonry walls completely blocked the the Stupa base. Fragments of painted here rapidly. It became evident that the rotunda had once been adorned with the digging there reached a level the floor and a fair-sized passage (Fig. 54) began to show by means of which the shown of the passage to the some extent of the
As the passage was my team began to process to the