

Some idea of their extent and deduct from the total the amount started with the first discovery with the object of showing the extent of the discovery. The has not been fully investigated where, the discovery was made.

Observing the specimens of paintings and tapestries decoration of the caves, the pieces of which have been public. All the pieces of pieces, upon which the

90. SPECIMENS OF ANCIENT EMBROIDERY AND TAPESTRIES, FROM THE 'CAVES OF THE THOUSAND BUDDHAS,' TUN-HUANG.

SCALES SHOWN ON PLATE.

of their have been and characteristic specimens by Mr. Laurence Knorr, and Thousand Buddhas in a Museum, Mr. A. Waley of all these pictorial be given in the next chapter.

It is impossible to list manifold decorated of figured silks besides prints recovered from the great is the abundance and of China's ancient and at least give some indication, of manuscript remains to illustrate that remarkable