

and temporary respite. The busy weeks spent mainly in the basement rooms which the authorities of the British Museum had very kindly offered for the first accommodation of my collections, seemed to me a time of immurement for the sake of science. How often have I not, then and since, wished myself back in the freedom and peace of the desert!

KIRGHIZ FAMILY ON THE MARCH.