Kha. i. 203. c. Two small frs., in Skr. and Upright Gupta; one belonging to a fol. 732, probably of a Prajñā-pāramitā. This may be final fol. of work, as it has an apparently concluding remark beginning with siddham. No. 367, Hoernle Reg.

No. 169, shows that it belonged to a very extensive Pōthī, with 7 ll. on page, as shown by another fr., $1\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$ " (full width). These two frs. contain story of Cunda, the Kumāraputra, in conversation with Buddha; cf. Kha. i. 89. b; 129. b. (2) Sixteen frs. of a large (Prajñā-pāramitā) Pōthī in large script. Kha. i. 215. a. Fr. from R. end of a fol., with 9 ll., of Pōthī of Saddharma-puṇḍarīka, in Skr. and Upright Gupta. The surviving text commences in Kern ed., ch. xviii, p. 361, l. 13, and ends on p. 364, l. 12; but the verses in our text are numbered 1-20, not 22-40, as in the Kern ed. Existing length of l. is about 5", full length must have been about 1' 7", and the full fol. $1' 7" \times 5$ "; hence the surviving fr. is about $\frac{1}{4}$.
