

to same period as fort at Mazār-tāgh, 468, 1291; Tibetan origin of fort, 474; abandoned after Tibetan occupation, ib.; dominated Lop-Tun-huang routes, 475, 560; reason for abandonment, 476.

Tibetan records from M. I, 348, 459, 460 sqq., 467 sqq.; condition and character of, 461, 467; paper of poor quality, except in Pōthīs, 462; predominant use of wood for docs., ib.; similarity to Mazār-tāgh records, ib.; shape, size, &c., of records, ib.; seal impressions, 462, 465; Nob mentioned in records, 322, 468 sq.; Dr. Francke's inventory, 467 sqq., 1460 sqq. See also Tibetan documents.

document in Turkish Runic script from M. I, 461, 471 sqq., 484; approximated dating of record, 472 sq.; titles of Chinese origin mentioned, 472; uncertain origin of record, 474.

misc. finds at M. I, 348, 459 sqq., 463 sqq.; abundance of fabric remains, 466; silk textiles rare, ib.; absence of Chinese records, 471, 474; Descriptive List of objects from, 476-84.

ruined Buddhist shrine M. II, 349, 485 sqq.; condition and structural features, 485, 490; remains suggesting Vihāra, 490; decorated niches, 485; architectural design, 485 sqq.; elevation of stucco pilaster, 486; style of stucco pilasters, 486, 491; upper portion of base, and remains of upper story, 487, 490; no signs of destruction by fire, 489; stucco rilievo images, 485 sqq.; material of heads, 488; arrangement of drapery, ib.; finds between image bases, 489; stucco decoration compared with Gandhāra friezes and with wooden double brackets from Lou-lan, 486 sq.; other sculptured relics, 489; palm-leaf Pōthī frs. in Skr. from, 489, 492, 1448; chronology of architectural decorations, 491 sq.; ruin used as herdsman's shelter, 490; periods of construction and abandonment, 491 sq.; dating of shrine, 492; list of objects found, 538 sq.

Stūpa cella M. III, 492 sqq.; its discovery, 493, 497; structural features of, 493, 497, 535 sqq.; circular Stūpa base and its arrangement, 493 sq., 536 n. 16; dating of cella, 495; silk votive banner with Kharoṣṭhī inscriptions from, 495, 542; clearing and removal of wall-paintings, 496, 498; material of frescoes, 496; artificial flowers found, 496, 542 sq.; fallen frs. of upper wall-paintings, 497 sq.; miscellaneous finds, 496; Descriptive List of objects, 539-47.

painted dado of M. III, 494, 506 sqq., 539 sq.; comparison with fresco from M. V, 500 sq., 509 sq., 512, 515 sqq.; with Hārītī panel, 1253; disposition of heads shows classical source of design, 503; use of chiaroscuro and method for 'high light' effect, 504, 508, 884 n. 8; arrangement of dado, 497, 506; homogeneous effect of arrangement, 506; method of painting dado, 507; wings and garments of angels, ib.; arrangement of hair, 507, 509, 515; expression of eyes, 507 sqq.; features, Western, with Semitic tinge, 507, 511; difference in pose and expression, 508; origin of decorative scheme, 509; individualistic treatment of faces, ib.; poses adapted to position, ib.; connexion of design with Gandhāra friezes, 510; 'angels' derived from winged Cupids, 511; figures unconnected with Buddhism, ib.

painted friezes above dado of M. III, 497 sqq.; interest and technique of paintings, 498 sq.; fresco panels, from friezes, 499, 539 sqq.; method of joining broken pieces, 499 n. 9; height and ground colour of frieze, 500; decoration compared with frescoes from M. V, 500 sq., 509 sq.; composition of frieze unbroken, 500; combination of scenes, and repetition of figures, 501; account of remains found, 502 sqq., 539 sqq.; details of paintings derived from classical models, 503 sq.; arrangement of hair, 502, 505; expression of eyes, 503, 505; minor fragments of upper friezes, 505; use of chiaroscuro and method for 'high light' effect, 504 sq., 541, 543; figure of royal worshipper, 505, 540; heads of female figures, 505.

Stūpa mound M. IV, 533.

Temple M. V: character of ruin and structural features, 512 sq., 535 sq.; walls and interior of cella, 512; Stūpa and dome of cella, 494, 513; circular cellas, 536 n. 16; remains of wood-carvings, 513; polychrome decoration of, ib.; east entrance to cella, 514; remains of stucco images, ib.; first clearing of frescoes, 516; probable name and origin of painter-decorator, 530 sq.; difficulties of photographing and risks of removing frescoes, 532; composition of plaster, ib.; damage done by Japanese traveller, 533 n. 10; Descriptive List of objects, 545 sqq.

painted dado of M. V, 512, 514, 545; festoon decoration of, 510, 515-517, 523 sqq.; outer passage lunettes, 515; winged figures, 515, 546; arrangement of hair, ib.; arrangement in two hemicycles or arcs, 516; S. hemicycle lunettes with portraits, 523, 525 sqq.; 'light and shade' treatment of flesh, 525, 527; figures in N. arc lunettes, 527; figures of amorini, 528; painted frieze above dado of M. V, 498, 512, 514, 517; classical composition of figures in, 512, 514; decorative floral motifs, 515; comparison with frescoes from M. III, 500 sq., 509, 510, 512, 515 sqq.; frescoes in S. hemicycle, 516 sqq.; subject and treatment of frieze, 517 sqq., 529; subject identified as legend of Prince Vessantara, 521 sqq.; frs. in N. hemicycle, with figures of armed men, &c., 520 sq.; same legend represented, 523; Kharoṣṭhī inscriptions on frescoes, 516, 518 sq., 521, 529 sqq.; inscription on elephant's leg, 529 sqq.; on palace gate, 531.

Western art spirit in figures, 528, 529.

Stūpa ruin M. VI, 533.

Stūpa ruin M. VII, 534.

structural remains, M. VIII, IX, on Yārdangs, 534, 537.

ruin of domed chamber M. X, 534 sq.; use of squinch in, 535; finds in, 536 sq., 547.

brick mound M. XI, 534.

tower M. XII, 537.

Mirān River, 350; water-supply and irrigation possibilities of, 474.

Mirān Tārīm, colony, 347.

Mirkanni, fort, 34.

mirror, represented on clay seal, 231; in drawings and paintings, 943, 967, 980. See also bronze.

miṣi-land, deed of sale of, 232.

Mithradates II of Parthia, coins of, 1340, 1349.

Mithras-like figures in frescoes, 524, 527.

Mitraka, name in Kharoṣṭhī inscription, 495.

Mo, town of: mentioned by Sung Yün, 1255; located at Farhād-Bēg-yailaki, ib.

Mo-ho-yen (Mo-kia-yen), desert, 1097, 1144; also called Sha-ho ('River of Sand'), 1144; Hsüan-tsang loses himself in, 1144.

Mo-kia-yen, wrong form of Mo-ho-yen, 1097 n. 11.

Mo-ku-t'ai-tzū, locality, 1109.

Mo-shan, kingdom of, 326, 420; see Shan.

Mo-shé, convent, 1278 n. 14; another form Ma-shé (Tib. Ma-dza), ib.

Mo-tan, Wu-k'ung at, 19.

Mochiān-deh, 'blacksmiths' village', remains of, 36.

modillions, on wooden cantilevers, 200, 248, 1258.

Mogo-ming, wrong form of Bōgar-ming (q. v.).

Moji, oasis of, 211 n. 1; list of objects from, 1316.

Mölcha, river, see Wu-ché.

monastery: supposed remains of, near Sanōghar, 46; remains of, at Farhād-Bēg-yailaki, 1249; at Ak-su and Kuchā in Hsüan-tsang's time, 1298;