

and, besides, some corresponding terms of smaller savage tribes could be added here from the explanations connected with the names of geographical localities.—Names with an asterisk are those at the head of the articles.

In some cases the page had to be given with a particular modification, viz. with the addition of the No. of the preceding page; this was to be done to show that then the article began already on the preceding page.

The third column contains the No. of the leading article under the head of which the word is to be found on the respective page. I preferred using these numbers instead of those of the lines, since the size of the print being not the same throughout, and particularly the Tibetan letters frequently increasing the usual width between the lines, would have presented additional work in counting the lines.

Geographical Name.	No. of Page.	No. of Article.	Geographical Name.	No. of Page.	No. of Article.
A			*Áksu.	168	6
āb	164	6	Aktágh	168	6
Abbotabád, see Bárrackpur . .	174	5	Aktásh	168	6
Ábi Gámin, see Íbi Gámin . .	200	6	*Akyáb	168	7
*Ábu	167	2	Akyáb dáukun	168	7
*Abugárh.	167	3	*Alampúr	168	8
Abunágar.	167	3	Alibágh.	169	1
Abupúr	167	3	*Áli Bándar.	169	1
*Adampúra	167	4	Aligánj	169	1
*Ádil Shah	167	5	Aligárh.	169	1
*Afzalgárh.	167	6	Alipúr	169	1
Afzalpúr	167	6	Alipúra.	169	1
*Aghagánj	168	1	*Allahabád	169	2
*Ahmadabád.	168	2	*Almóra	169	3
Ahmadnágar.	168	2	Amarapúra.	169	4
Ahmadpúr	168	2	*Amarapúram	169	4
Airávati, see Iravádi	201	6	Amarkántak	169	4
*Ajmír	168	3	Amarkót	169	4
*Akaligárh.	168	4	Amarpáttan	169	4
*Akbarabád	168	5	Amartál	169	4
Akbarpúr.	168	5	*Amáza gā	169	5
			*Ambagāū	169	6